

Project Testing

The following describes the tests conducted on the project website following Structure Plane development to ensure website operability. These are broken down into tests conducted on the header; those on the footer; and those conducted on the specific content of each page. Initially, these tests were conducted following initial Structure Plane development on the following web browsers:

- Internet Explorer 11
- Google Chrome
- Mozilla Firefox
- Safari (on mobile)

Additionally, these tests were also conducted once deployment of the site had been achieved on all the web browsers listed above.
